

Privacy Policy

This Privacy Policy serves as an aid in understanding what data we collect and, for what purpose, and how we use. That information is important and therefore Please carefully read this document.

We do not collect nor the do not store of sensitive of personal data, such as. Name and Surname, address, whether credit card number, or any another data which could identify the user.

We cooperate with partners who for the purposes of display the ads can utilize the following information about the device, such as:

a unique device ID, device type, system version.
Device model, display type, connection type, language, location, pre-installed applications on the device, the ad unit ID associated with application that is in use by the user.
Ad history. A running App on the device.

Our partners run their own privacy policy, with which you should acquaint, during the window display of advertising, in order to achieve complete information. We are not responsible for use of the end-user data or the use of end-user data by third-party ad networks. End users should read Privacy Policy of information concerning their data practices.

We can not guarantee that the information this your phone, or sensitive data end-user will be protected against loss, be used incorrectly or altered by third parties.

We may change this Privacy Policy any time, in its sole discretion. Any changes or modifications that will be introduced will be effective upon posting.

If you have any questions or suggestions regarding this Privacy Policy, please contact us at workshopthemes@gmail.com